

1,350% Increase in New Clients in the First Month, WOW!

Here we are in the middle of the worst economy in decades, and Stokely and Bryan have my door swinging off the hinges with new clients!

I must admit, I was quite skeptical of the idea that I could hand over the marketing of my business to an outside company and have any success whatsoever. My business is something I've studied and been doing for more than 11 years, and within 45 days, these guys had a marketing plan that any one of my competitors would have killed for!

Out of nowhere, I got a call from Stokely, the real estate guru, and a client of my business, Back To Balance. I wouldn't have believed for a second that a real estate marketing guy could help me out. BOY was I wrong. It turns out that marketing is the reason his business has been so successful, and that he could use his experience to help me market my business. I decided to see what he was talking about, and we set a time to meet and look over my marketing and my current business numbers.

Clearly, as with most businesses, there was room for improvement in my current marketing. With all of the demands of my medical practice, there was little time left to create and manage an effective marketing plan. This is where Bryan and Stokely really shined. It was clear that these guys knew what they were talking about starting from week one.

Running a business, a medical practice in particular, takes a lot of time and effort. The best part about outsourcing my marketing to these guys is that I can focus on doing what I do best –taking care of my patients. Bryan and Stokely take care of the marketing side of my business, and keep people coming in through the door.

Thanks for the help, guys; my team, my patients and I are grateful!

Sincerely,

M.Germain
